Pokemon Mystery Dungeon: Gates to Infinity: My Experience

I have not finished the game yet but my review so far is:

It is an outstanding game with an amazing story that will move you, it moved me to tears so far and I haven't even finished it. I've fallen in love with all the characters and even the ones I meet along the way.

I love that you can name your team members because it makes you feel more attached to your team. I try and train every one of them and even take all on quests! Its extremely engaging to do this and fun!

I love that you get to build your own "Paradise" for Pokemon and you can use a second mode to do so to work on it, that is not in story mode. You can even choose what Pokemon you want to use in this section out of the Pokemon that have joined your team.

I have almost all sections in my paradise and didn't realize til later on you can add 4 facilities to each section of your paradise! My first section I focused on berries and training for what types of Pokemon I had and then added item hunting, cause wynaut? Every time I got a new type I added that training area to a different section or in my case a section that didn't have 4. Every time you level up your Paradise you get a new facility!

The game is challenging! To make money, get experience and get items you must do as many "Quests" as possible. Your Paradise is also essential to finishing the story because you can grow berries, train your team or even get items., your paradise takes time to build and money! You also need to do Quests to train your team, if your team isn't a high enough level you have a high chance of failing the quest. I suggest saving the 1-2 star requests in your "Saved Quests" for easy money or any items you want cause they may disappear! Also, speaking of saving, save your game often!

My strategy for quests is usually winging it and running for my life, especially when my team isn't a high level, especially on the main story, they are very challenging and if you don't have the right items or revier's I suggest running for it. If my team is trained then I don't do that because in Quests you go to the "Mystery Dungeon's" where you can find various goodies that come in handy for your team so you don't have to buy them.

My Axew, Gerald, and my Oshawott Nessie.

Down below is my Paradise Map

I have a total around 25-50 hours on the game from either working on my Paradise or doing the story ☐ I love it! I recommend it for any age!

I'm not going to spoil the game for anyone, so I'm going to leave my review there ☐ I don't want to say how you meet Axew or where anything really is ☐

Pokemon Mystery Dungeon: Gates to Infinity is a fun and challenging game for all ages! #Pokemon JDSalvatore

My next Pokemon review will be: Pokemon Super Mystery Dungeon and no I haven't finished it.

The Ramblings of a Pokemon Trainer

So, I own both copies of Sun and Moon but I have not finished the story yet on either because I've been breeding and working on projects for my Facebook group (I'll link below)! I mainly want to finish the story on Moon, I'll explain later why that is!

In Moon, I choose Rowlet as my starter. I trained up a Pikippek (who is now Trumbeak) and Slowpoke at first then I caught a Alola Meowth, now I have a Salandit on my team along with Lycanroc who I evolved from Rockruff. My team is ever changing and I train them all myself.

I wanted to show you guys what I've been doing! I powersave but I only do it to do shinies, I don't cheat in battling, I raise my own pokes for that!

I am an avid breeder and wonder trader (WT) (I'm going to do stuff on Wednesday for Wonder Trade Wednesday)! I have probably bred over 100 eggs in Moon so far! I actually hatched a legit shiny Gible!!

I evolved him into a Gabite this was in Pokemon Moon, his name is Chompy

Trainer in Moon

Now let me tell you what I'm doing with Sun. I want to complete the Pokedex without leaving the second island. I am currently at the Nursery (I went to the PokeCenter beyond it but that's it), so far I have all the UB's and Legends for Su/Mo via trading, so I'm doing pretty good ☐ This game I really could care less about powersaving for money/items/etc. so it kinda gets dumped on with codes.

Pokemon Sun Trainer

I am currently at 33% Alola Pokedex, 41% Melemele, 27% Akala!

So with my powersave I made these and WT-d them:

I was WT-ing these to be a troll

This is my Pokemon fun ☐

Mario Party: Island Tour for 3DS Game Review

Gameplay: 3.5 Stars (due to no online multiplayer)

Online Available: No

Multiplayer: Yes with other DS's

Time Waster: Definitely

Fun: Heck Yes

Here is Gameplay of one the games in Mario Party to see what it's all about:

You can set the level's to anything you like when playing against automated characters and choose whom you wish to go against. A lot of these games are based around luck, so it can get frustrating. The game that I showed is more skill and minigames than luck. It shows in the top corner of the mushrooms.

There are over 100 minigames to play, and you can go into mini-game mode to play them and compete to get better times or earn coins. You can also challenge Bowser's Tower to get limited minigames and unlock different stuff throughout the game, though you can lose coins. There are 5 party games and 2 to unlock, through Bowser's Tower.

You can also collect Character bubbles which unlocks the various sounds the characters makes, then you can unlock the Memory bubbles of the Parties which is also sound.

All in all, it is a good time waster and fun to play. I just wish there was an online feature.
